

Biography: Gene Gam, CPIM

Gene Gam, APICS member since 1996, has over 14 years of Supply Chain Management experience with commercial industries as well as government contractors. He has worked in the electronics, communications, and defense industries in Master Scheduling; Production Planning; Inventory Management; and Bill of Material Analyst roles.

In his current role as VP Communications, Gene hopes to partner with other supply chain organizations to promote educational events and professional development. Gene also hopes to grow our membership through making Supply Chain Management professionals aware of APICS and how it can assist them with their professional goals.